HISTORICAL SKETCH

The Federation of Associated Clubs, Incorporated was founded in Indianapolis in November, 1937 by Starling W. James. The FAC, as it was commonly known, actively participated in educational, social, civic, and economic issues concerning the black community through scholarships, petitions, civic gatherings and campaigns. Socially, the club annually toured numerous foreign countries as well as many places in the United States. Initially, the organization united nine local social clubs and later grew to include 125 different clubs. Under the guidance of the FAC, those groups published The Federation News, a newsletter that informed the membership and communicated FAC ideas to the black community. The Federation campaigned for such things as desegregation, upgrading black neighborhoods, election of black officials to the school board and as state representatives. Like its founder, the FAC reflected the middle class black community's values and standards.

Starling James, founder of the FAC, was formerly a teacher in Kansas City. Always actively involved in civil rights for blacks, James received heavy criticism for his activities in Kansas City and was forced to leave. He relocated in Indianapolis in 1927. His purpose for organizing the FAC was to alleviate social injustices, legal inequalities and economic problems of blacks in Indianapolis through the organization of clubs already in existence. He remained president of the Federation of Associated Clubs throughout its duration.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Records of Federation of Associated Clubs, Incorporated were donated by Starling James to the Indiana Historical Society through the efforts of the Black Women In The Middle West Project. Most of the material in the collection reflects the social activities of the organization rather than the business aspects of the club. The collection consists of general correspondence, minutes, committee reports and activities, various financial reports, newsletters, journals, newspaper clippings, tour related information, and miscellaneous material.

Box 1, (folders 1-17) contains general correspondence from 1950-1978. Although the correspondence is incomplete, material pertaining to art exhibits by black artists, community action and membership requests are included. Minutes of the board of directors and the advisory committee for 1965 and 1966, consists mostly of committee reports and monthly activities. Also included are names of board of directors, clubs affiliated with the Association, member directories and some financial material which consists of financial reports, cancelled checks and receipts, a history of the Federation Of Associated Clubs, newsletters, pamphlets, and journals associated with the club. Newspaper clippings, mostly concerning yearly trips, are also contained in this box. A preliminary overview of black employment in 1948 complete the box.

Box 1 (folders 18-31) contains all material associated with the activities and programs of the club. Several clubs working within the Federation are represented through programs, meetings, and correspondence. The miscellaneous material contained in this box represents such things as a travelogue, banquet material, homecoming observance and dedication programs.

Boxes 2-8 contain correspondence, filed chronologically, from hotels, travel agents, and bus companies to Starling James concerning preparation for trips. Replies from Mr. James, itineraries, passenger lists, and miscellaneous material related to the specific tour but not directly addressed to Starling James are also included in this box. Box 8 also has correspondence for the cancelled tours to Europe in 1956, Northwest United States in 1971, Mexico in 1973, and the Orient in 1978.

Box 8 and 9 include consists of miscellaneous tour material, such as correspondence not associated with tour correspondence in other boxes, song sheets for trips, postcards, and games for the bus trips.

Box 9-10 contain miscellaneous scrapbook materials on Starling James, the Federation of Associated Clubs, Inc., and Indianapolis.

Photographs from the collection are accessible through Visual Collections, and the following books have been catalogued in Printed Collections: History of the Federated Association of Clubs, 1939-1949 and History of the Federation of Associated Clubs, Incorporated 1939-1975.
