Duck Creek Monthly Meeting Births and Deaths (Henry County)

Edited by Ruth Dorrel and Thomas D. Hamm

Duck Creek Monthly Meeting was set off from Milford Monthly Meeting and first held on Seventh Month 27, 1826. The meetinghouse was located at what is now the south edge of the village of Greensboro. Friends had settled in the vicinity as early as 1818.

Before 1833 Duck Creek Monthly Meeting included not only most of Henry County but also parts of adjacent Rush, Hancock, and Madison counties. Walnut Ridge was established as a preparative meeting in Rush County in 1826 and set off as a monthly meeting in 1836. Spiceland became a preparative in 1829 and was set off as a monthly meeting in 1833. Fall Creek Preparative Meeting was established in Madison County in 1834, but because of smallness of numbers was laid down in 1838. In 1835 Duck Creek Monthly Meeting established Elm Grove as a preparative meeting on Blue River in Wayne Township, Henry County, but almost immediately transferred its membership to Spiceland. Clear Spring was established as a preparative meeting in 1834 in the southeast corner of Harrison Township, Henry County, and Cadiz at the village of the same name in Harrison Township in 1849. In 1888 a preparative meeting was established in the newly founded village of Kennard in Greensboro Township. Until the 1940s, Duck Creek, Cadiz, Clear Spring, and Kennard made up the monthly meeting.

Duck Creek Friends were an unusually cantankerous group. The Hicksite Separation affected the monthly meeting in 1828; Friend William Bond was disowned by the larger Orthodox group for proclaiming that "Elias Hicks is as good a man as Jesus Christ and a certain approved minister ought to be killed off." The Hicksite minority at Duck Creek built a new meetinghouse at the east edge of Greensboro and were attached first to Milford and then to Fall Creek monthly meetings. The Hicksite Cemetery in Greensboro preserves their name. Then in 1837 the monthly meeting was so badly divided that the quarterly meeting laid it down and attached the membership to Spiceland Monthly Meeting. Nathan Hunt Ballenger, writing in 1890, described it as “a contention over the Reserection [sic] doctrine.” The issue at hand was whether Christian resurrection involved spiritual or physical bodies. The monthly meeting was reestablished in 1840, but in 1843 it was badly divided by the Anti-Slavery separation. Further information on this split can be found in Thomas D. Hamm et al., “Moral Choices: Two Indiana Quaker Communities and the Abolitionist Movement,” Indiana Magazine of History, June 1991.

These volumes are in the Indiana Yearly Meeting Archives in the Friends Collection of Earlham College. Material searched for this publication is indicated by an asterisk (*). These records have been microfilmed. They have been supplemented by inscriptions from tombstones in the cemeteries at Greensboro, Cadiz, and Clear Spring.
